TRUST COMPANY GRANITE BUILDING, 9TH AND F STS. N. W.

Prominent among the claims of this company for public patronage are the following:

Its large paid-up capital and surplus. Because its board of directors give personal attention to its affairs.

Its stock is mostly held by residents

Its policy is to protect its patrons by accumulating a large surplus rather than to distribute its earnings in diviof paying interest to depositors rather than give them all to stockholders.

It has the best safe deposit vault

It makes its loans only upon security. The permanent character of the char ter of this company renders it a pecu-

The main business of the company is included under the following heads: It settles estates, manages property for non-residents, collects allotments, disposes of money under trusts, acts as trustee, receiver, registrar, treasurer, assignee and in every proper fiduciary capacity.

JUROR COOPER'S FAMILY AND HOW

It is conceded that Juror Cooper lost his life by reason of his performance of a public duty. Many of us acknowledge ourselves under obligations to his dependent family on this account. How shall we best manifest our feeling? Some have generously contributed money. Such assistance will provide for present necessities, but how about the future? Within a month or less the case will have passed into the limbo of forgotten things. Before the inevitable obliviou comes let those of us who purchase family supplies at the Center Market take note of the fact that the Widow Cooper keeps VEGETABLE STALL No. 196, in the B st. wing. Let us hereafter give her a portion of our patronace and thus make her self-supporting.

We do not mean "Punch" in the same sense that the greatest of American humorists intended. We mean that delicious concection of which Americans are so fond. It should be made with care. Men have become famous because of the excellence of the punch they make. Success in making punch depends upon the best materials. Owing to the heavy body and rich flavor our "Bursundy" is not surpassed for making punch. Try sample quart, 40c. $4 per dozen quarts delivered.
